AUDIT the FEDERAL RESERVE

America's national debt is nearing $18 trillion. (That's $18,000,000,000,000.)

The Federal Reserve, the unelected central bank of the United States, fuels this debt by creating money out of thin air. And though it has even put us on the hook for trillions more in bailouts, loans, and commitments to Wall Street and foreign central banks and governments in the past, it has refused to be fully accountable and transparent to Congress and the American people.

Ron Paul's Audit the Fed bill, reintroduced this Congress by Rep. Paul Broun, passed the House of Representatives in September by an overwhelming, bipartisan majority of 333-92. Audit the Fed will bring transparency to an institution that has destroyed our dollar's value since its creation in 1913.

The Senate companion legislation, S. 209, is sponsored by Senator Rand Paul.

Although this legislation also passed the House by a massive majority last Congress, Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid refused to bring it up for a vote in the Senate.

And he sent the Senate home for the November elections this year despite another clear mandate from the American people to act on Audit the Fed.

Left unchallenged, the Fed's monopoly over the flow of money and credit in our country will guarantee future crises and the continuing mortgaging of our children and grandchildren's futures.

So please join C4L in our efforts to hold one of Washington's most secretive institutions accountable to the American people.

Contact Congress today at (202) 224-3121. Urge your senators to hold a roll call vote on S. 209, or its House counterpart (H.R. 24), during Congress' Lame Duck session.
